EFFORTS TO ESTABLISH THEM ON FOREIGN SOIL.

Rear Admiral Bradford Tells of the Work Done on Naval Stations in Our New Possessions - Plans for Twenty Coal Depots on Atlantic and Pacific Coasts.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 .- For the first time since he has been Chief of the Bureau of Equipment, Rear Admiral R. B. Bradford fails to discuss in his annual report to the Secretary of the Navy the strategical advantage to the United States of securing naval coaling stations at a number of places throughout the world. Admiral Bradford gives a hint, however, that something is going on to carry out his well-known policy, for he said in the brief paragraph devoted to the subject:

As the Department is aware, efforts are being made to establish naval coal. The Standard says the speech lacked depots at important localities which it is Lord Salisbury's usual vigor and incisivedeemed unwise to discuss in a report of a public character.

That those localities are in foreign countries is well indicated by the fact that Admiral Bradford does not hesitate to tell of the efforts made toward establishing coaling stations within the limits of this country and its possessions beyond the Work is well under way on the naval stations at Honolulu and Tutuila, Samoa. At Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, work has not been begun, owing to difficulties in the way of acquiring a suitable site. The harber of San Laus d'Apra. Guam, is being improved and the Equipment Bureau is ready to proceed with the construction there of an adequate coal depot, based upon a comprehensive scheme, suitable for a harbor for merchantile and naval purposes, well located for protection against destructive storms, and fortified against destructive storms, and fortified against possible enemies."

A number of naval coaling stations have been and are to be established in the Philippines. The most important of these is at Olongapo, on Subig Bay, where the Spaniards had done considerable fortification work. It was here that Admiral Dewey expected to meet the Spanish squadron which he destroyed in Manila Bay. A coaling station has been established at Sangley Point, near Cavité, and a coal storage plant, with a capacity of 45,000 tons, is to be built there. Efforts have been made, so far without success, to obtain tons, is to be built there. Efforts have been made, so far without success, to obtain a suitable site for a coal depot at Cebu, and coal depots have been established at Port Isabella, on Basilan Island, and Polloe, on the island of Mindanao. A new United States coal depot is being shuilt at Yokohama, Japan. Work has been completed on the coal depot at Pichelinque Bay, Mexico.

Referring to the fact that all that has been done at San Juan, Forto Rico, was the establishment of a pier for use in landing coal and other stores, Admiral Bradford says:

"It is much to be regretted that little progress has been made in securing sites for other coal depots in the West Indies. It is particularly essential that some of the deep water ports of Cuba should be made available for this purpose. The entire waters surrounding Cuba are most important in a strategic sense, and supplies of coal should be near at hand."

Arrangements have been made and in coal should be near at hand."

Arrangements have been made, and in some cases work has begun, for the establishment of coal depots at Frenchman's Bay, Me., considered an excellent strategical site; Portsmouth, N. H.; Boston, Narragansett Bay, R. I., another place selected on account of its strategical advantages; New London, Conn.; the New York Kavy Yard, League Island, Pa.; Washington, D. C.; Norfolk Va.; Port Royal, S. C.; Kew West and Dry Tortugas, Fla., both regarded as important strategically; Pensacola, Fla.; Algiers, La.; Dutch Harbor, Alaska; Sitka, Alaska; Bremerton, Wash.; Mare Island, Cal.; Mission Rock, San Francisco Bay, and San sion Rock, San Francisco Bay, and San Diego, Cal.

NAVAL COALING STATIONS. | SALISBURY'S POOR SPEECH.

London Press Not Satisfied With His Stat ment on the War. Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN.

LONDON, Nov. 11.-The newspapers give a somewhat cool reception to Lord Salis bury's Guildhall speech. The Government papers naturally do not desire to severely criticise it. The Times gently argues with the Prime Minister. It mentions that in one place he made a "rather curious assertion, while elsewhere, we confess, we find his sayings somewhat dark." It declares it cannot understand why the Government should not give the country, which is spending £1,500,000 weekly, a general view of the situation monthly so that the progress made could be seen.

The Daily Mail is outspokenly diseatisfied. It says: "There was no mistaking the effect of the speech on the audience, whose enthusiasm it completely extin guished ness. It disagrees with many of the Prime Minister's points.

The Morning Leader and the faily New find nothing good in the speech. The Chronicle speaks of it as "inconsistent apologetics."

EXPLOSIVE HURLED 3 MILES.

NEW 40-FOOT PNEUMATIC GUN AT FISHER'S ISLAND TESTED.

Its Calibre Is 15 Inches, and It Discharged Five Shells Weighing More Than Haif a Ton Each in 11 Minutes and 55 Seconds-The Gun's Great Accuracy.

A new dynamite gun of destructive powers which it is declared exceed those of any weapon yet designed has just been subjected to a successful series of tests by a special board of officers of the Bureau Ordnance of the United States Army Fisher's Island. For several years the Government has been engaged in the creation on Fisher's Island of a fortification which will render the eastern entrance o Long Island Sound impregnable to any naval attack and thus effectually protect all the shore cities from New London to New York. In this scheme of defence the dynamite gun covering the narrow channel between Fisher's Island and Plum Island. on which formidable batteries have also been erected, plays a conspicuous part. Owing to the secrecy maintained by the Government relative to these new works the trial was conducted in private. The gun, which was built by the Dynamite Gun Company of New York at Scran-ton, Pa., was installed recently in a battery at the western end of the island and last week was reported ready to undergo its final trial prior to acceptance by the Government. It is a pneumatic riece forty feet long with a calibre of fifteen inches of the same general type as that of the batteries now in position at Sandy Hook and San Francisco, but it embodies many new features designed to increase its accuracy of fire and rapidity of action. A new type of fund excurses absolute certainty. type of fuse assures absolute certainty, it is said, of the explosion of the shells both on impact with the water or the side of a vessel and by delay action.

The trials were made in the presence of the board, composed of Majors McNut and Birney of the Bureau of Ordnance, President T. S. Darling of the Dynamite Gun Company and Frank Creelman, Robert Carles and Carl Gun Company and Frank Creelman, Robert Gunlach and other civilian experts. The gun is mounted on a seacoast carriage, permitting an elevation of 35 degrees and a train through the full arc of the circle, power for this purpose being supplied by electric motors placed under the carriage. With the full-calibre projectile it proved its ability to hurl 500 pounds of nitro-gelatin, sufficient to annihilate any ship afloat, a distance of about 3,000 yards, with a degree of accuracy not excelled, if equalled, by the most modern types of large-calibre rifled guns. With smaller projectiles the range was almost doubled without any sacrifice of accuracy.

Two days were devoted to putting the gun through an exhaustive series of tests.

without any sacrifice of accuracy.

Two days were devoted to putting the gun through an exhaustive series of tests. The first shot sent a 6-inch shell, carrying fifty pounds of explosive, a distance of 5,763 yards, bursting on impact and hurling a column of water 300 feet into the air. With a 10-inch shell, carrying 200 pounds of nitro-gelatin, the extreme range was found to be 4,860 yards, the shell exploding under water with the desired delay action of two seconds. The test for accuracy resulted in planting five 8-inch shells at the respective ranges of 5,043, 5,035, 5,020, 5,040 and 4,970 yards, all of which would have taken decisive effect had the target been a battleship at a distance of about three miles, or about double the limit of a practical fighting range, which is now generally accepted to be about 2,500 yards. Still more astonishing was the test for rapidity of fire which resulted in discharging five full-calibre shells weighing 1,183 pounds, or more than half a ton each, in 11 minutes 55 seconds, far in excess of the speed attained by any other gun of heavy calibre and almost bringing the weapon within the class of rapid-fire pieces. This was the more remarkable as the feat was accomplished under the disadvantage of a raw erew of eight men at the gun, with accomplished under the disadvantage accomplished under the disadvanage of a raw crew of eight men at the gun, with two at the magazine, nearly 200 feet distant from the breech.

At 6 P. M. St. Catherine's Hospital received a call to Fein's house. Dr. McEntee who saw the girl there, reported that there was nothing the matter with her. He left her in the house.

An hour later Policeman McGowan found her sitting in the gutter near Fein's house, with a bundle of clothes beside her. He summoned a patrol wagon, but while the girl was being taken to the Gates avenue police station she collapsed entirely.

She was then sent to St. Mary's Hospital, where Dr. Williams said she had a very severe attack of typhoid-pneumonia and severe attack of typhoid-pneumonia and would very likely die.

BURGLARS MISSED HER POCKET.

Se Mrs. Cellins's $5,000 in Diamonds and $50 in Cash Are Safe After Their Call.

Because two burglars, unmarried probably, who entered the apartments of William H. Collins in the boarding house at 28 West Twenty-fifth street, early yesterday morning, were unsuccessful in finding the pocket in Mrs. Collins's dress, they missed all of her diamonds, worth $5,000, and $80 in cash to boot.

The Collinses live on the third floor. When Mr. Collins awoke yesterday morning he found that his trousers, instead of being in their accustomed place, were on the floor. A clock had been taken from the mantelpiece, the bureau drawers had been ransacked and several pieces of jewelry carried away.

Mrs. Collins's skirt was also on the floor. In the pocket were the diamonds and $80, but the thieves had not found either, though they took the skirt from where it had been

The burglars had forced a window in the rear of the apartment after climbing up the fire escape. Robert Vassar, who lives on the floor below Mr. Collins, says he heard two men moving about toward 4 o'clock in the morning, but thought they lived in the house.

CHINAMEN AND LABOR UNIONS. Socialist Wants to Know Why They Cannot Be Organized.

Herman Gudstadt, who was appointed several weeks ago by the American Federation of Labor as an agent to go through the large cities of this country to start an agitation in favor of the reenactment of the Chinese Exclusion law, had the floor at yesterday's meeting of the Central Federated Union. He urged the members to do all in their power to have this law passed again.

A Socialist remarked that since all men were equal in this country he did not see why the rule should not be applied to the Chinese. His remark was received with derisive laughter.

"Why can't the American Federation of Labor make a serious attempt to organize the Chinese?" asked the Socialist.
"I hope it won't make the attempt," said the chairman.

EXPERIENCE OF A FARMHAND AT NEW YORK MILLS.

Sent Out to Look for Stray Cattle and Did Not Return-Sixty Hours After-ward He Was Found at the Bottom of the Well, on the Verge of Collapse

UTICA, Nov. 10.-Michael Stepanick, a Polish laborer employed on the farm of John Owens at New York Mills, spent three days in an old well and lives to tell his experiences. Mr. Owens sent Stepanick to Cook for some stray cattle on Tuesday. When he failed to return a search was made for the man, but no trace of him was discovered until Friday afternoon. A boy searching for nuts heard moans coming from an opening in a brush heap. Then from an opening in a brush heap. Then came curses, and the boy went to a nearby farmhouse for help. Ira Buts, John Crossman and George Younger accompanied the boy to the spot and found the missing Stepanick in the bottom of a 15-foot well. Stepanick was too weak to adjust a rope about himself, and Betts and Crossman lowered Younger into the well. Stepanick, almost unconscious, was hauled out and taken to Mr. Owens's home, where he is slowly recovering from his terrible experience.

Stepanick said that in searching for the cattle he started to walk over the brush pile. Then he fell into the deserted well pile. Then he fell into the deserted well and for several minutes he was stunned. There were about two feet of water in the bottom of the well and there he stood for over sixty hours. His cries for help brought no assistance and he was unable to climb up the slimy rocks. Stepanick's hands were badly lacerated and his mind was on the verge of tottering. His good physical condition alone caused him to
